ThinkVisibility is a web conference that runs twice a year in the north of England. From high calibre speakers such as Joost de Valk, Dave Naylor and luminaries from Yahoo!, the BBC and Telegraph Media Group, to a comedy lunch time panel called 'Think Interesting', there are plenty of reasons why ThinkVisibility attendees have come to expect an event like no other.

Attendees come from the UK and Ireland, and from as far away as Spain, Germany, the Netherlands and the United Arab Emirates. The venue is the stunning Alea Casino, which opened in Leeds in 2008 and has capacity for 150. ThinkVisibility attracts leading marketing professionals, web designers, web developers, PR specialists and business owners. The intimate nature of ThinkVisibility events, together with the decision to hold them at weekends, result in an enthusiastic, positively charged atmosphere.

Previous sponsors have included Affiliate Window, Sunshine.co.uk and Mediaedge:cia.
